Indiana Senator Says Administration Has Solved Many Big Problems.

REPUBLICAN VIEW

BY JAMES E. WATSON.
U. S. Senator from Indiana.

WASHINGTON, March 4.—Americans may well be proud of the achievements recorded in one year of the Harding administration.

The republican party was con- fronted with Herculean tasks when it came into control of the government March 4, 1921. The adminis- tration's success in carrying out its platform can be measured only by the magnitude of the obstacles it overcame in its attempt to achieve normalcy.

An era of public expenditures on a scale staggering imagination pre- vailed in the Wilson administration. Public service was habituated to extravagant measures. The country was burdened under a national debt, the interest alone of which was greater than the total public debt prior to the world war.

The disarmament conference, called by the Harding adminis- tration, has been an extraordinary success. It has dealt with questions of the most difficult character and on all of them has reached agree- ments that will have most beneficial results. This conference was the greatest single step taken to eliminate war in the history of mankind.

Budget Act Next Passed.

The budget act was next passed by a republican congress. This measure already has proven a success. Its adoption had a healthy effect on curbing extravagance in public office.

The farmers' emergency tariff act was also passed to provide the first necessary relief for overburdened agriculture. The Capper-Volstead cooperative marketing bill was passed only last month to give agriculture further relief. Other bills were enacted to help the farmer.

The soldiers were not forgotten, even though a bonus was impossible under existing unstable financial conditions. The veterans' bureau was formed, consolidating all government organizations in the service of soldiers. Right now Congress is enacting new appropriations for carrying on the important work.

The maternity bill, one of the planks in the republican platform a year ago, was enacted by the republican congress. It was an adminis- tration bill and provided for the care of mothers and babies.

Success Due to Genius.

Its success is due to the genius and inspiration of those who directed the policy of the United States. It is a tribute to the leadership of Pres. Harding and to the able men

Ball Moving In Water.

—When a ball is in water a player may, without penalty, strike at it while it is moving, but he must not delay to make his stroke in order to allow the wind or current to better the position of the ball, under penalty of the loss of the hole in Match Play, and the loss of two strokes in Stroke Competition.

Rule 27.

(1) Ball in Water Hazard. Ball in Casual Water in Hazard—If a ball lie or be lost in a recognized water hazard (whether the ball lie in water or not) or in casual water in a hazard, the player may drop a ball under penalty of one stroke in Match Play or Stroke Competition, and the loss of two strokes in stroke competition.

(2) Ball in Casual Water Through the Green. If a ball lie or be lost in casual water through the green, the player may drop a ball, without penalty, within two club lengths of the margin, as near as possible to the spot where the ball lay, but not nearer to the hole.

If a ball when dropped roll into the water, it may be re-dropped without penalty.

(3) Ball in Casual Water on the Putting-Green. If a ball on the putting-green lie in casual water, or if casual water intervenes between a ball lying on the putting-green and the hole, the ball may be played where it lies, or it may be lifted without penalty and placed by hand, either within two club lengths directly behind the spot from whence the ball was lifted, or in the nearest position to that spot which is no nearer to the hole and which affords a putt to the hole without casual water intervening.

(4) Water Interfering with Stance. —A ball lying so near the casual water that the water interferes with the player's stance may be treated as if it lay in casual water, under the preceding section of this rule.

(5) Want of Space to Drop. —If it is impossible from want of space in which to play, or from any other cause, for a player to drop a ball in conformity with Sections (1) and (2) of this rule, or to place it in conformity with Section (3), he shall "drop" or "place" as nearly as possible within the limits laid down in these sections, but not nearer to the hole.

The penalty for a breach of this rule shall be the loss of the hole in Match Play, and the loss of two strokes in Stroke Competition.

PLYMOUTH

Mary McCoy spent Friday after- noon in South Bend.

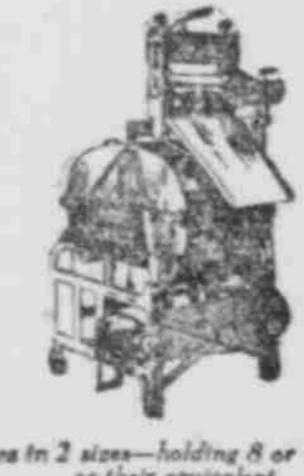

The Athletic association gave a banquet Thursday evening to the basketball players. A short talk was given by Dr. S. C. Stephens, president of the association. D. L. McKesson introduced the speaker of the evening, E. K. Rockne, Notre Dame athletic director, who gave a very interesting talk on athletics, how to keep them clean by being free from betting and other un-sportsmanlike traits. There was also music during the evening by the Day family. The whole affair was enjoyed and appreciated by the guests and all present.

Mrs. W. A. Tank has been ap- pointed as new secretary for the Red Cross society to take the place of Mrs. William Corleek, who re- cently resigned.

Ten minutes after using Danderine you can not find a single trace of dandruff or falling hair and your scalp will not itch, but what will please you most will be after a few weeks' use, when you see new hair find and downy at first—yes—but really new hair growing all over the scalp. Danderine is in the hair when fresh showers of rain and sun- shine assist vegetation. It goes right to the roots, invigorates and strengthens them, helping the hair to grow long, strong and luxuriant. One application of Danderine makes thin, lifeless, colorless hair look youthful, bright, lustrous and just twice as abundant.

The Harding administration one year ago today was confronted not merely with the necessity of removing officials long trained in extravagance, but of attempting to cure an extravagant plague that permeated every federal bureau and department. There was a huge army of unemployed. Industry was paralyzed.

These conditions were inherited from the Wilson administration. They are not corrected yet, but in one year of effort the Harding administration has done much more to cure the country's financial ailment but to prevent a recurrence of the devastating disease.

From a constructive standpoint the administration has ended the technical state of war with Germany. This set was essential to the prosperity of the nation and was a long step toward bringing a return to normalcy.

The packers' bill, regulating commerce in livestock and dairy products, also passed. It ended a long and violent controversy over abuses complained of by farm producers.

For the shipping interests the republican senate passed an act permitting American vessels to pass through the Panama canal free of tolls.

These are but a few of the most important bills. There were numerous measures of a constructive nature which have given benefits on every side. Not one year of the administration's history can be successfully pointed to as having enacted more constructive legislation than the first year of Harding rule.
